.. but first a word from our editor

In this issue, we have a focus on the town of Zwolen – a translation of the article from Yad VaShem's Hebrew-language Pinkas HaKehillot, a transcript of the Zwolen entries from the 1929 Polish Business Directory; and complete extracts of all of the microfilmed Jewish marriage records of Zwolen

In addition to the Zwolen marriages – all 973 microfilmed marriages, 1826-1877, for this “new” town for us – the vital records extracts in the issue are the 1826-1850 Radoszyce births, and births, marriages and deaths for 1808-1825 for the village of Ogodzieniec, near Pilica

Articles on Jewish cemeteries in Poland and the town of Staszow include a report on the “Poland Jewish Cemeteries Restoration Project” (PCJRP) by Dr Norman Weinberg, “The Stones of Staszów” by Jack Goldfarb, and the chronology of the Jewish history of Staszów (“Stashev”, in Yiddish), translated from the 1962 Yizkor Book Sefer Staszow

This issue also contains a summary and index of “The Processed”, the Kielce Ghetto memoirs of Mildred (Mania) Fefferman-Wasoff, prepared by Elliot Cohen.

I look forward to seeing many of you at the upcoming 23rd IAJGS International Conference on Jewish Genealogy, to be held in Washington DC, July 20-25. We have scheduled a meeting of the Kielce-Radom SIG for Thursday 7/24 at 2:00. We are also planning on having a table at the Conference’s “SIG Fair”. We'll need some volunteers for the table. For more information about the conference, see <<http://www.jewishgen.org/dc2003>>

In other developments, The SIG has obtained photocopies of the 1906 and 1912 Duma Voters Lists for all of Kielce and Radom Gubernias, which were the primary sources used by Alexander Beider for his A Dictionary of Jewish Surnames from the Kingdom of Poland (See Volume I, Number 1, page 17 for details). We would like to transliterate these lists from Cyrillic, and publish them in the Kielce-Radom SIG Journal and as a searchable database on JewishGen. A volunteer Project Manager is needed to begin this process. Please contact me if you are interested.

As always, I am interested in your comments and feedback on the Kielce-Radom SIG Journal, and in what types of material you would like to see. Of course, we would welcome contributions of articles and other materials for the Journal. If you would like to assist, please contact me.

Poland Jewish Cemeteries Restoration Project

An Update and Appeal to Jewish Genealogists

Dr Norman L Weinberg, Executive Coordinator
 95 Chasewood Lane, East Amherst, NY 14051
nweinberg@pjcrp.org

Brief Synopsis of Previous Articles

Ozarow descendants, some genealogists among them, a few survivors and friends, most never having ever met, came together in May 2001, through the miracle of the internet. Their vision to restore the sacred burial place of their ancestors and relatives. The Ozarow Cemetery Restoration Project (OCRP) was born and a website was established (www.ozarow.org). Within months, the OCRP had hired a project manager in Poland and began raising the necessary funds – all from landsleiter. By early summer, the project started, including meeting the mayor and priest, who offered their support, obtaining a survey and permits, cleaning the cemetery, resetting fallen monuments on firm bases and recovering others from 10 miles away near the Vistula, taken there by the Germans as fortifications during the War, constructing new cemetery walls of stone with metal gates, and, erecting commemorative monuments at the site of the mass grave. On October 15, 2001, a bus full of OCRP donors and friends arrived in Ozarow for the dedication ceremony. We were greeted by over 500 people, including the mayor and priest, townspeople dressed in their best bringing flowers, as well as Polish and foreign dignitaries. A moving ceremony followed at the mass grave where the priest in Polish, followed by the Ozarower Rebbe, Rabbi Tanchum Becker, a descendant of the famous rabbis of Ozarow, led prayers.

A few months later, without any encouragement from the OCRP, we received a letter from the headmaster of the high school that henceforth the students would clean the cemetery. Norman and Hannah Weinberg were so moved by this, they established the Annual Weinberg Scholarship Award to be presented to a senior Ozarow high school student writing the winning essay on the Jews of Ozarow, on respect for others, tolerance and reconciliation, or a related theme. The essays would be judged by the school staff [See Kielce-Radom SIG Journal V 4 (Autumn 2001), pp 28-29, and VI 1 (Winter 2002), pp 24-26]

OCRP and the PJCRP

Much has happened since! Of interest to Ozarow genealogists, the photographing and translations of all the monuments are underway, as is the making of a documentary film and collection of copies of pre-war records and photographs of the Jewish students of the high school. We are also tracking down rumors of a book of the Ozarow rabbis, handwritten in Yiddish. The OCRP work goes on also with reconstruction of the ohels, the burial places of the rabbis. Then there is the question of what to do about the former Ozarów synagogue, a movie house after the war, now a plumbing supply. No Jews live in Ozarów today. Should we restore it for a higher purpose? Under recent Polish law, all Jewish communal property is to be returned into Jewish hands, the Jewish Communities of Poland or the Foundation for Preservation of Jewish Heritage in Poland.

Starting with urging by Rabbi Michael Schudrich, Rabbi of Warsaw and Łódź, and a key member and advisor to the OCRP, the OCRP has been transformed into the "Poland Jewish Cemeteries Restoration Project" (PJCRP) – See www.pjcrp.org. The PJCRP's objectives are based on our experience and success in Ozarów. Its objectives are

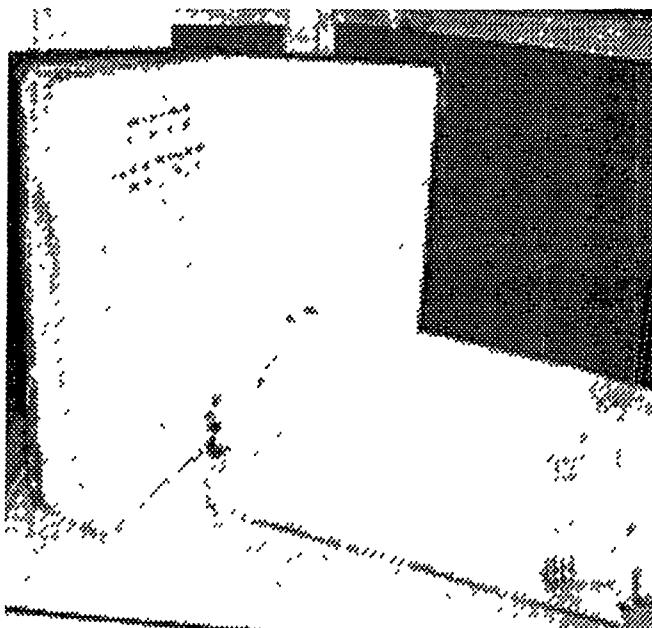

Commemorative Monuments at Mass Grave in Ozarów

- 1 – Restoration and Preservation of the still devastated Jewish cemeteries of Poland;
- 2 – Documentation and Publication, including of the restorations, before, during and after, and genealogical information on the internet in conjunction with JewishGen, and,
- 3 – Education, particularly of youth, both Jews and Poles

Poland Jewish Cemeteries Restoration Project, Inc is a charitable organization incorporated in New York State. The PJCRP Coordinators are as follows Dr Norman Weinberg - Executive Coordinator, USA; Hannah Weinberg - Coordinator USA, Andrzej Omasta - Operational Coordinator, Warsaw; Rabbi Michael Schudrich - Halachic Coordinator, USA and Poland / Rabbi of Warsaw and Łódź, Harold Halpern - Coordinator, Legal Affairs, USA, Prof Daniel Wagner - Coordinator Israel, Moishe Gold - Coordinator, Canada In addition, each shtetl cemetery project appoints its own Shtetl PJCRP Coordinator to communicate activities between the PJCRP and shtetl descendants

As of this date the PJCRP has ongoing activities and interests in the cemeteries in the following towns and cities

- Białystok
- Iliza – initial fact-finding visits completed, fund raising in progress, recovery of Judaica and search for matzevot are underway
- Iwaniska
- Karczew (also nearby, Anielin and Otwock) – Phase I funded and completed, fund-raising Phase II begun
- Legnica
- Łódź – funds transferred for cemetery restoration
- Łosice – initial fact-finding visits completed, land survey and permits underway, fund-raising in progress
- Mogielnica – initial fact-finding visit completed, two ohels were reconstructed with the advice and assistance of Rabbi Schudrich with costs partly covered through the generosity of Rabbi d'Ancona
- Opole Lubelskie – initial fact-finding visits completed
- Oświęcim – initial fact-finding visit completed, PJCRP working on restoration with Auschwitz Jewish Center Foundation (AJCF), awaits funding
- Ożarów – already restored, will finish ohels, raise partially buried monuments and complete objectives
- Plaszów – initial fact-finding visit completed
- Połaniec
- Różan – funds transferred for cemetery
- Staszów – already restored, led by the amazing Jack Goldfarb; the PJCRP may assist in other objectives
- Strzegowo – initial visits and fund-raising completed, restoration work about to start.
- Tarłów – initial fact-finding completed
- Warsaw – evaluations of costs were made for clean up of two sectors of the Okopowa cemetery by the Lauder Foundation, at the request of the Warsaw Kahal Work was performed by Sanders Int
- Wrocław – funds transferred for cemetery restoration work
- Zdunska Wola – under auspices of the town, an agreement was worked out by Prof. Daniel Wagner of Israel and member of the Zdunska Wola landsmanschaft, to employ jobless to clean the cemetery

Iliza Recovered Talmud and Torah Scroll

The PJCRP has the support of the Polish and US Governments, the US Commission for the Preservation of America's Heritage Abroad (a US Government agency), the Rabbinic Commission on Cemeteries, the AJC, the National Polish American-Jewish American Council, the Jewish Historic Institute (Warsaw), the Foundation for Preservation of Jewish Heritage in Poland (Warsaw), the Jewish Communities of Poland, and JewishGen, as well as a growing list of other organizations. Importantly, it also has the support of the mayors and priests in every former shtetl which the PJCRP has entered.

PJCRP Report on Mission to Poland

In May 2003, Norman and Hannah Weinberg returned to Poland, and together with its Coordinators and Advisors in Poland met and reviewed progress and needs with members of the Polish Government (Joanna Hofman, Head Bureau Jewish Diaspora, Francisek Cemka, Director, Ministry of Culture, Andrzej Czohara, Director, Ministry of Confessions), the Israeli (Beth Eden Kite, Director) and German Embassies, the Foundation for Preservation of Jewish Heritage in Poland (Eve Anderson, Director), and the Jewish Communities of Poland (Andrzej Zozula, Executive Director). We traveled to seven towns to meet with mayors and priests. To summarize, all the members of government and organizations in control of the Jewish cemeteries were very helpful.

Tarlow Synagogue Ruins

In each of the towns we visited, we were greeted warmly by town officials and priests. Besides pledges of assistance to restore the Jewish cemeteries, we received assurances that the town would help with recovery of old Jewish records, photos, and other items of Judaica, and in several towns they had already begun their collection, even appointing a local historian to head the effort. To our amazement, several towns had already provided work crews to clean their Jewish cemeteries, in advance of any PJCRP restoration work. Participation of Poland with troops in the Iraq War, the only other country in Europe to send troops besides Great Britain, has raised expectations in Polish towns of considerable US investment. Several towns went out of their way to show off the benefits of business locating in their town. All of the people we met were respectful that Jews had returned to restore ancestral cemeteries. Whatever the main motive, this is an opportune time for Jews worldwide to recover their Jewish heritage.

The following are brief highlights of visits to these towns:

Ilza – There is very little left of any matzevot, just a few shards. But the local museum had recovered a Talmud in excellent condition and the remains of a partially burned Torah scroll, miraculously recovered from between the walls of a burning house. The museum also had a stone engraving of the 10 commandments, probably from the destroyed synagogue. Fund raising is in progress to rebuild the walls and gates of the cemetery. We learned that matzevot may be found, maybe at the bottom of local marshes, where they were taken by the Germans for road building.

Karczew – The cemetery is built on a shifting sand dune. When it rains, human bones surface. Dogs have been chewing them. Phase 1, the walls and gates, are now completed. But these cannot keep the sand dune, now a large hill, from moving, even spilling over the walls and gates. It is urgent that Phase 2, the stabilization of the soil begin as soon as possible. Phase 2 awaits completion of funding.

Łosice – The cemetery has no monuments, instead there is a park with the remains of a large dance pavilion, built by the town in the 60s and closed in the 70s. All the matzevot, hundreds of them, were moved to a former dentist's house during German occupation and used there for paving the yard and forming walls. This house, complete with a German bunker, became Gestapo Headquarters, a place of unspeakable horrors. The PJCRP hopes to raise sufficient funds to carefully remove, clean, photograph, catalogue, and store each monument until the cemetery walls and gates are completed when they will be returned there. The Oświęcim cemetery has a German bunker in the middle of it. These examples of irrefutable German presence and destruction were brought to the attention of the German Embassy in Warsaw by the PJCRP, asking that the German Government begin addressing by financial assistance, restoration of the cemeteries they destroyed.

Opole Lubelskie – The largest cemetery on our trip, is empty of monuments, however a number of matzevot were specially on display for us in the town, held otherwise in safe storage until the cemetery is restored.

Losice Tombstones at former Gestapo HQ

Ożarów – In a ceremony attended by the mayor, the headmaster, senior students and teachers of the high school, the first Annual Weinberg Scholarship Award was presented to Anna Czajkowska, for her moving essay, written in Polish and English, entitled the “Jews of Ozarów”. She had interviewed older members of her family and Ozarów residents. The essay mentioned names of many Jewish families. A digital camera was left with the school to send us records of prewar Jewish school children from their archives. In addition to photographing school functions, it will be used also to collect photos of other items of Judaica. The restored cemetery was in excellent condition, with no graffiti or vandalism, more than 1½ years later, despite the concerns of some Ozarów donors. We later met with the priest who offered to help us recover the book of the rabbis of Ozarów.

Strzegowo A few remaining monuments

Strzegowo – All the initial funds have been raised for this project. The cemetery in the middle of a small forest was being cleaned by the town. It has few monuments left, but it is believed there may be many hidden under the foliage and debris of more than 60 years, as was the case in Ozarów. Still more may be returned by residents once restoration begins this summer.

Tarlów – We visited the remains of the once beautiful synagogue. The Coat of Arms of Tarłów has a prominent Star of David and a cross, the only remaining evidence of the former Jewish shtetl. The town had appointed a historian to gather records of Jews and Jewish history and who presented a set of birth, marriage and death certificates of Norman's Tarłów family to him. The cemetery is empty of monuments except for a few shards. Again many matzevot may be recovered from the underbrush and nearby locations, marshes, farmer's fields and paved areas, once the cemetery restoration work had begun.

Why Should Jewish Genealogists Get Involved in Cemetery Restorations in Poland?

Jewish genealogists worldwide are actively engaged in recovering their past, filling in family trees with records of the living and the departed, including records of survivors and the millions murdered in the Holocaust. Who cannot be touched, shed tears or offer up a prayer when we come across another name or a whole family group wiped out during those terrible years? Genealogists can be proud of their accomplishments. By reconstructing our past from these records, genealogists have brought us closer to our roots, a legacy we in turn can pass on to our children.

But, what of our physical heritage? What of our ancestral cemeteries left behind after the slaughter, with few if any resident Jews to tend to these holy places? Why should we care? Before World War II, an estimated 1,200 Jewish cemeteries existed in Poland. Today, they are in a devastated state. The Nazis had encouraged the Poles to use the monuments as paving roads for roads, backyards, building materials and even lining pig pens. As many as two-thirds of the Jewish cemeteries were totally desecrated and devastated, becoming farms, parks, soccer stadiums, garbage dumps, and building sites for schools, office buildings, even a house of prostitution. Under the Soviets, the destruction continued and was encouraged: after all, the country had virtually few Jews left (somewhere around 10,000 Jews are estimated today, out of the original 3.5 million, 3 million of whom were murdered), the cemeteries were not being otherwise used or cared for, and here were easy resources for already quarried stone.

The rewards are many. You are already doing a mitzvah reconstructing family roots. If one can measure mitzvahs, than reconstructing your ancestral cemetery has to rank amongst the greatest. But even if you are only interested in genealogy, once cemetery restoration work is begun and connections built with the town, there are a wealth of valuable resources available in addition to birth, marriages and death records: from the tombstones, from school and town records, from the older Poles who have pictures kept for over 60 years and their stories; from the priest who may have records and even hold Judaica from that town. And, as was shown with the OCRP, as connections are formed with other descendants, invariably important discoveries are made of relationships to each other or extended families.

Jewish genealogists, their special interest groups (SIGs) and landsmanschaften are best positioned to take the next step. You have already gathered a great deal of information through often hundreds of hours, in some cases thousands, of dedicated work, searching through records and doing interviews with relatives. Please take the next step and become involved in your ancestral cemetery restoration.

Appeal: For Volunteers and Support

We need volunteers to serve as PJCRP Coordinators for their ancestral shtetls. Jewish genealogists are ideally positioned, because of their interests and connections to other descendants and family members, SIGs and landsmanschaften. But this is not a necessity. PJCRP Town Coordinators help raise awareness and provide the communication link to the PJCRP. Call Norman Weinberg, Tel. 716-688-5272 if you would like to consider volunteering.

Donations may be made to support restoration/preservation of your ancestral cemetery by sending a check or money order made out to the "Poland Jewish Cemeteries Restoration Project" to:

Foundation for Jewish Philanthropies
787 Delaware Avenue
Buffalo, NY 14209-1166
Tel. (716) 882-1166 (for donations by credit card or wire transfer)

The Foundation for Jewish Philanthropies is a 501(c)3 charitable organization which issues tax deductible receipts. The Foundation takes a percentage of the interest to cover its expenses. Include with your donation, welcomed in any amount, your name and address, specifying the name of the shtetl, or whether this is for the PJCRP General Fund (applied to cemetery restorations anywhere in Poland). Every donation receives an acknowledgement.

"Jewish cemetery restoration in Poland is about remembering and honoring the dead, and the millions slaughtered in the Holocaust, hundreds of thousands murdered in cemeteries and nearby forests and buried in mass graves. It is among the greatest mitzvot one can do, since the dead cannot thank us. It is also about life and the living, about tikkun olam...repairing the world, reclaiming Jewish heritage, educating youth, tolerance and reconciliation." – PJCRP Mission Statement from Pinkas HaKehillot, Polen, Volume VII (Jerusalem: Yad Vashem, 1999), pages 187-189

By Daniel Blatman

Translated from the Hebrew by Judy Montel

Zwoleń

Kozienice district, Kielce province

זְבוֹלֶן

Year	Total Population	Jewish Population
1662	645	102
1673	394	75
1827	1,935	629
1857	2,762	1,350
1864	3,351	1,760
1921	7,392	3,787

Zwoleń was founded in 1425 by the aristocrat Jan Ceilenka, on the basis of a writ from King Wladislaw Jaglo. In 1443, Zwoleń received the rights of a city based on the Magdeburgian constitution. At the time, market days and annual trade fairs were taking place there, and several workshops were established which processed wool and leather. During the 16th century, there were 12 artisans located there – butchers, wheelwrights and brandy distillers. In 1660, there were 39 artisans in various professions in Zwoleń, among them 17 Jews.

After the Swedish wars in the middle of the 17th century, the development of Zwoleń was halted, and in 1869 it lost its municipal status, which was restored only in 1925.

In 1554, two Jews, both of them merchants, are mentioned for the first time as inhabitants of Zwoleń. In 1564 there were 11 Jewish butchers in Zwoleń, 7 wheelwrights, 2 millers and the manager of the bathhouse. In 1579, King Stefan Batori granted the Jews the privilege of dwelling in Zwoleń and working at commerce and manufacturing there. In 1591, King Zygmunt III granted the Jews of Zwoleń permission to own 10 houses within the city limits. After his death in 1616, the quota of Jewish families who were allowed to live in Zwoleń rose to 20. The same year there were Jews who owned 12 workshops for processing wool and leather. In 1671, King Michael Koribut Wisznowieski renewed the 1579 privileges and in 1679 so did King Jan III Sobieski. In 1660, a great fire broke out in Zwoleń, which destroyed most of the homes in the village. The fire and the invasion of the Swedes several years later wiped out the Jewish settlement there almost totally, and only in the middle of the 18th century was there a recovery. At that time, the Jews of Zwoleń earned their livelihood from commerce and manufacturing.

In 1765, there were 400 Jews living in Zwoleń, who paid 1,160 zloty poll tax. Among them were two merchants and 8 beer brewers and innkeepers. In 1784 there were 25 Jewish cobblers living there as well as 6 Jewish saddlers, 5 coat-makers, 4 tailors, 4 wheelwrights, 2 carpenters and one blacksmith.

During the 18th century, there was already an organized community in Zwoleń.

Among the rabbis of Zwoleń, we know of Rabbi Shimshon son of Rabbi Shlomo (died in 1747 in Kraków). With the expansion of Chassidism, Rabbi Shimshon was elected as the rabbi of Zwoleń, a student of the "Seer of Lublin" and the "Holy Jew" of Przysucha. In 1891, Rabbi Avraham Chaim Fliderbaum was elected to the post of rabbi of Zwoleń; the rabbinical judge in his day (in 1882) was Rabbi Eliezer Gutman.

Rabbi Szmuel Elijah Taub settled in Zwoleń, son of Rabbi Yechezkel of Kozmir [Kazimierz Dolny], and established a Chassidic dynasty there one of whose branches is the Chassidism of Modrzyc [Dęblin]. His sons moved to large cities and their dynasty was named for Zwoleń. Rabbi Shmule Elijah Taub died in 1888.

With the outbreak of World War I, the Jews of Zwoleń were commanded to hand over declarations of property to the Russian authorities, and the Russians levied a special tax on them. Families who could not pay the tax were driven out of the city. During the first two years of the war, Zwoleń passed from Russian control into the hands of the German army and back again. In July 1915, when the Russians re-conquered the city, an organized raid was made on the homes of the Jews and they were commanded to load all of their possessions on carts and evacuate Zwoleń. The deportees moved to several towns in the area and a few moved to Warsaw. During the summer of 1915, the Germans and Austrians re-conquered Zwoleń and at that time the Jews were also allowed to move back into their homes.

Between the two world wars, the Jews continued to earn their livelihood from commerce and manufacturing. In 1928, 28 Jewish carters purchased trucks and established a cooperative that transported goods to Warsaw.

Until 1936, the ultra-orthodox ruled the community. In the early thirties there were three representatives of the Chassidic courts and one representative of each of the Zionist lists and the Association of Merchants and Artisans on the community council. In the community elections in 1926, the Zionists ("The National Bloc" and "HaMizrachi") won five mandates. The artisan's list won two mandates and "Agudat Yisra'el" one mandate. Josef Kirszenbaum of the "General Zionists" was elected as community head. The community had a synagogue, which was built in the middle of the 19th century, and several associations and charitable organizations functioned within it. In 1934, "Agudat Yisra'el" opened a girls' school in Zwoleń under the auspices of the "Beit Ya'akov" chain. The supporters of Zionism established a branch of the "Tarbut" chain and were attempting to open a Hebrew school, but they were not successful. In 1922, the Zionists opened a small public library, which became a cultural center for the members of the Zionist youth movements. Of the Zionist political parties, "Po'alei Zion Left" was active in Zwoleń, and their influence was especially felt among the laborers in the manufacturing shops. In 1930, a branch of the Revisionist movement was also established along with its youth movement, Beitar. In 1929/30, 54 zloty were raised in Zwoleń for the "Shekel" appeal. During the twenties, several of the Jews of Zwoleń were active members in the Polish communist party; several of them were arrested by the police and imprisoned. The "Bund" was active mainly in organizing youth groups in their sports organization "Morgenstern" (Morning Star). In 1924, the Jewish political parties ran in the elections for the city council. Zionists won five mandates and "Agudat Yisra'el" one mandate. Among the Polish party lists, the "Senacia" (then the ruling party) won a majority of 10 mandates. Kirszenbaum, the community head, was elected as a member of the city administration from the Zionist camp.

During World War II

On September 6th, 1939, German airplanes bombed Zwoleń and many large fires broke out in the city. About 100 inhabitants, some of them Jews, were killed in the bombing, and many fled the city and hid in the forests. On September 8th, the German army entered Zwoleń, and during the occupation of the city two Jews were shot and killed - Josef Goldman and his sister. Several days later the synagogue was broken into by local inhabitants, the Torah scrolls were set on fire in the market square and afterwards the Germans burned the synagogue.

At the end of 1939, a Judenrat was established in Zwoleń, headed by the baker Welwel Kirszblat. The Judenrat made a list of the Jews aged 14-60 as laborers. The Jews of Zwoleń were indentured to work two days a week at the nearby agricultural farms and servicing the German army camps. Early in 1940, the community was levied with a "contribution" payment (ransom) of 200,000 zloty.

During this period an open ghetto was established in Zwoleń and the Jews were commanded to move and live within it. In spite of the fact that leaving the ghetto without a permit was forbidden, the Jews were able to maintain ties with the Polish population and obtain foodstuffs. After the establishment of the ghetto, a Jewish police force was organized numbering six policemen. Their commander was Mendel Wajntraub. In February of 1942, the ghetto was sealed. At the end of July 1942, German gendarmes entered Zwoleń together with a Lithuanian auxiliary force that arrived from Radom (cf.). They gathered the men aged 12-60 for work registration. On August 1st, 1942, 300 men were gathered in the agricultural school and shortly thereafter they were transferred to the Skarżysko-Kamienna camp (cf.). On August 5, another 200 laborers were taken to Skarżysko, and during this "Aktion" the German gendarmes murdered 15 Jews. That summer, about 4,000 Jews were transferred to the Zwoleń ghetto from the towns and villages of Pionki, Garbatka (cf.), Gniewoszów (cf.), Sernowa and Kazanów (cf.). On September 29th, 1942, the ghetto was surrounded by shifts of Ukrainians and a group of SS men from Radom. The head of the Jewish police and his men were commanded to collect the Jews from their houses and to gather them in the market square. About 100 Jews - the elderly and the sick who remained in their houses and Jews who were discovered in hiding places - were murdered on the spot by the Germans. The Jewish policemen gathered the bodies and buried them in the Jewish cemetery. The rest of the Jews, about 8,000 souls from Zwoleń and the surrounding towns, were marched on foot for 16 kilometers to the train station near the town of Garbatka and from there they were sent to Treblinka.

An additional 200 Jews remained in Zwoleń who were instructed to sort and collect the property of the victims, among them also the men of the Jewish police force. When the work was finished, these Jews were transferred to a farm outside of Zwoleń. On November 31st, 1942, two trucks arrived in Zwoleń from the labor camp at Skarżysko-Kamienna. The men of the "Werkschutz" (the German camp guards) made a selection and murdered some of the laborers who appeared to them to be unfit for work. The rest they transferred from the farm to the camp.

Transcribed below are the entries for Zwoleń from the 1929 Polish business directory Księga Adresowa Polski (Wraz z w.m. Gdańskiem) dla Handlu, Przemysłu Rzemiosł i Rolnictwa [Directory of Poland (including Gdańsk) for trade, industry, handicraft and agriculture], (Warszawa, 1929), pages 320-321. For more information about this directory, see Kielce-Radom SIG Journal IV:1 (Winter 2000), pages 27-29.

The directory is organized by province, then by town, and then by occupation within each town. The occupations are listed alphabetically in Polish (except for the first few officials and medical/legal professions), with French translation following.

For this transcript, I have alphabetized the entries by surname, with the occupation heading as the second column. I've omitted some information, such as business names, and the French translations of the occupation headings. For the English translations of the occupations/business types, you can download < <http://www.jewishgen.org/jri-pl/bizdir/occupations.xls> >.

For the full original entries, see the images online at < <http://www.jewishgen.org/jri-pl/bizdir/start.htm> >. We thank JRI-Poland for making these pages available.

Kielce Ghetto Memoirs of Mildred (Mania) Fefferman-Wasoff

by Elliot Cohen, M.D.

Both my grandparents were members of a landsmanshaften called the "Kielce Sick and Benevolent Society" (KSBS). Both of my families came from Chęciny [Chentshin] a town of 6,000, of which 50% of the population at the turn of the century were Jewish. Chęciny lies 15-18 kilometers southwest of Kielce. As with many families from Chęciny, the deplorable economic and political conditions of the Czarist regime pushed my mother's grandparents to emigrate. Abraham and Sara Rosenzweig arrived in 1910. My father's father, Morris Cohen, arrived with his eldest son Max and his oldest daughter Annie in 1912 or 1913.

The Kielce Society was important to both sides of my family as an anchor in their new environments. As with most landsmanshaften, it provided continuity and a link with the homeland; it provided social and emotional ties to fellow immigrants from Kielce Gubernia. My maternal grandfather, Abraham Rosenzweig, helped establish the society burial plot in Beth David Cemetery in Elmont, New York. He was president of the society in 1924. He and other members of the society reached out after WWI to privately and quietly help fellow Keltzers from Poland to emigrate and settle in New York. Although I do not have documentation to back up this statement, I believe the KSBS probably brought in at least 100 families over a 10-year period, and provided initial lodging and support for them on arrival from Ellis Island.

My paternal grandparents were highly involved in the 1930's with the KSBS, especially taking part in activities focusing on fundraising for fellow Jews left behind in Chęciny who could not immigrate, could no longer support their families, and were coming under the brutal tide of anti-Semitism sweeping Poland. It was at one of these social fundraising events that my parents, Kalman Cohen and Anita Rosenzweig, met and fell in love. This engendered my interest in knowing more about the society. It led me to two boxes of historical documents concerning the KSBS that are part of the YIVO collection on landsmanshaften, kept in the 3rd floor library of YIVO at 15 W. 16th St. in New York City. The boxes were a small treasure trove of membership lists, pictures of past presidents, organization documents (including an oath of secrecy) and magazines on various dances and fundraisers. I found old ads for my grandfather's haberdashery store – Cohen and Horowitz at 125 Manhattan Ave. in Williamsburg, Brooklyn; and my uncle Harry's Furrier store at 136 Manhattan Ave., etc.

An unexpected find and treasure find in these boxes at YIVO was a typed 107-page autobiographical account of the Kielce community's trials, tribulations, ghettoization and ultimate obliteration by the Nazis. It was written in 1945-1946 and copyrighted in 1979 by Mildred (Mania) Fefferman-Wasoff and titled "The Processed". As I read this paper, I felt closer and closer to my deceased relatives who were part of this terrible time and I experienced their denial, their confusion, their disbelief, their descent into the abyss and the darkness. This autobiography connected me in a raw emotional way to the names in my genealogical research.

I want to share this document with everyone and anyone who may have had a relative in the Kielce Ghetto. Mildred starts off her memoirs with a forward that reconnects the history of Jews in Kielce and the hostility and restrictions put on the Jews in Kielce by their Polish neighbors. She recounts that on Sept. 1, 1939, the Kielce Jewish community was 71 years old. She reports the prejudice of the population culminating in a bloody massacre in 1918 of Jews in the Polski theatre. After WWI, Jews could not find employment in private Polish industry or work for the government in any civil service position, either local or provincial. Only a few Jews attended Gymnasium (Local High school). Jews were subjected to vandalism and physical assault. Jews created their own companies and entered commerce via shoemaking, tanning, saw mills, photography, marble, lime, merchants, tradesmen, doctors, lawyers, and banks.

Her journal starts September 1st, 1939 with the statement, "we saw the beginning of the end, the total annihilation of our world, and of our way of life." At that time, 25% of Kielce's population was Jewish (26,000). There was an impressive synagogue, boys and girls Yeshiva, an orphanage, an old age home, a Jewish municipality, two private high schools, two libraries, social and sports clubs and a Yiddish newspaper, "Kielce Leben". Most young Jewish adults were affiliated with the Zionist organizations (Labor, Socialist, religious, and revisionist.)

Mildred was a young lady interested in painting as well as going to Palestine. Her grandfather's bank, Kredytowy, had gone bankrupt; her father Saulke Feferman merchandised petroleum products. Her brother Monick was engaged to Celina Zalcman from Lublin. At 9 p.m. on September 1st, they learned on their radio that Germany was invading Poland. On September 5th, the Wehrmacht entered Kielce, her brother fled to Russia, but her father's medical condition kept him and the rest of the family from leaving. Immediately the Germans started arresting prominent Jews (for genealogical purposes, I will list at the end of this article all the names mentioned); demanding ransoms of money and jewelry for their release. Next the Germans confiscated all the businesses by appointing trustees, and the Jewish owners worked without wages. Entire streets were made Juden Rein (Free of Jews), armbands with blue-stars of David were introduced and Jews were forbidden to use parks, and all radios were confiscated. If you did not turn in furs, silver, jewelry and electrical appliances, the penalty was death.

September 16th, 1939 was Rosh Hashanah, and the grand synagogue on Nowo-Warszawska Street was now a depot and jail. On Yom Kipper morning, the Nazis dragged worshippers from their shtiblechs and cut off their beards. By October 26th, compulsory labor was ordered for all Jews 14-60 years old – cleaning gutters, out-houses, and pulling wagons. The winter of 1939 was horrible; stoves were heated by sawdust instead of coal, a curfew of 6 pm was imposed. The population was sadistically terrorized by the local Gestapo thugs. Mildred and her family were subjected to their apartment being invaded looking for jewelry and money, the Gestapo slapped her mother around and cursed. The family had hidden jewelry by cementing it inside the bricks of their ovens. Soon Typhus raised its head, streets were quarantined, friends died. Life went on with a Bar Mitzvah in September 1940, at which she fell in love with Yumek Korngold, and was married by Rabbi Rapoport in her parents apartment on December 31st. They spent their wedding night with 14 people who could not leave because of the 6 pm curfew. They were hopeful that they could build a “good life” in Palestine after the war ended. During the winter of 1940-1941, many of the Feferman family’s close friends died of disease, cold, and malnutrition. Her brother Monick and his wife Celina returned from Russia. Monick was arrested and was rescued from a Dachau transport by his wife bribing the guards.

On the eve of Passover, April 1st 1941, Kielce Jews were placed in a fenced Ghetto. The Ghetto was run by the Judenrat and 120 Jewish policemen. The ghetto’s population was 28,000, swelled with Jews from neighboring communities and even from Vienna. Mildred states, “In the ghetto people soon forget how to laugh”. People became emaciated: hunger was a daily issue, beggars begged for “nur a shtikele broit” (a small piece of bread). Typhus was epidemic. Jews who were thought to be communist or had returned from Russia were shot or sent to a work camp. The Fefermans survived by trading clothes and jewelry for food. Skilled workers, such as her brother Moniek, worked outside the ghetto in German plants without wages. Mildred had blonde hair and blue eyes, and would sneak out of the ghetto to trade with Poles. This activity was punishable by death and any Pole turning her in to the Gestapo would get a free bag of sugar.

There was rejoicing and momentary hope when they learned that the United States declared war on Germany in 1941. However, things became grimmer and grimmer through the summer of 1942, with rumors of deportations – the Jews of Kielce felt trapped, hopeless and helpless. On August 22, 1942, the SS, Ukrainian guards and the Gestapo sealed off certain streets, and the first ‘Action’ began. A second ‘Action’ began the next day and all the Jews in these selected streets were deported, except for skilled workers, Judenrat staff, militia, and doctors. Mildred and family waited numbly for their turn to be deported in the third ‘Action’, four days after the first. She remembers that her father said, “Keep your faith and spirit. The Jewish day begins at night, to symbolize faith even in darkness, you’ll see, light will prevail and a fine tomorrow will dawn on us.” She sat that night, surrounded by crickets chirping, frogs croaking and the air sweet with the “fragrance of maciejki (?)”, in a warm gentle breeze wondered why “the universe, like the rest of the world, was oblivious to our suffering. We knew by then that our turn in the last third “Action” was inevitable and imminent. And nothing, absolutely nothing was going to stop it.” At dawn the S.S. and Ukrainian guards came with the dogs. Friends were shot, S.S. soldiers were screaming, they were marched to the town square, herded into the square, inspected, sorted, lines to the right were exempt from deportation, lines to the left deported, Mildred to the right, Mom and Dad and sibling lost sight of, babies tossed up for target practice, S.S. dancing demons, marched to synagogue, next day another “judging”, rubber whips snapping constantly, Jewish militia lined up and shot, brother Moniek found, rest of family deported. Mildred was in a select group of 1,600 remaining behind in the ghetto, mostly skilled workers, doctors and their families, Judenrat officials and militia. They cleaned up the scene in the town square – blood stained coats, knapsacks, hats, prayer books, shattered glasses, and toys. “We had become empty shells without human emotion.”

The High Holy Days of 1942 were celebrated on an empty lot within their camp. Two young teenage boys snuck into their camp and said they had escaped from Treblinka and reported that all the Kielce Jews were gassed and burned to ashes at Treblinka. She stated “the enormity of their shocking and terrifying story was preposterous, inconceivable to comprehend and impossible to believe... poor boys... minds twisted from fright to fabricate tales of such unspeakable horrors... and so it was discarded as a figment of the boys imagination.”

Mildred and the others kept working as seamstresses, housemaids, brick makers – all the time uneasy and puzzled about the fate of their loved ones. Life went on, people tried to split out of camp with false papers – some made it, some were shot. Women giving birth smothered their babies to avoid being shot. Jews arrested and machine-gunned in the old Jewish cemetery at Pakosh. In the Spring of 1943 on Purim, all the doctors and their families rounded up and shot at the cemetery. As Mildred says “the rope around our necks was getting tighter.” Mildred reports on a “Clear, warm day on May 29, 1943” the Ukrainians and Gestapo surrounded the remaining Ghetto, and 43 children ranging in age from three to ten years old were forcibly taken from their terrified parents and murdered. Out of the 700 Jews left in the ‘ Little Ghetto’, half were dispersed to a munitions factory in Pionski. Mildred and her brother went to a factory in Ludwików. At this point in this autobiography it appears that the ghetto of Kielce has ceased to exist. Jewish life after the 74 years in Kielce was destroyed and gone forever – living only in memory of the Kielce survivors, including Mildred (Mania) Feferman-Wasoff.

Mildred Fefferman-Wasoff’s story of survival continues for another 40 pages in her autobiography. This indomitable woman survived multiple work camps and death camps. In August 1944, as the Russians moved closer, Mildred and her brother were transferred to Auschwitz-Birkenau. Mildred reports “like a bolt of lightening, with a blinding flash the strong odor of burned bodies brought the sudden realization of a terrifying fact: people were being burned. Thus, all the rumors that had circulated for the past two years.... were true.” There were 86 women from Kielce in her block in Birkenau, and they survived through several selections in the winter of 1944, by the infamous Dr. Mengele. As the Russians advanced, a train to Ravensbrück transported Mildred and the other Kielce women. The women were, yet again, moved by train after 2-3 months to Malchow camp. Mildred’s will to survive had dissipated to the point that when Spring came in March 1945 and the sun came out, she stated, “the bright sunshine could not warm me anymore.” Then, the Kielce women heard the airplanes, heard the bombings, and saw the “sky orange with fire” and their “optimistic courage came back to life”. On April 26, 1945, a column of 1,000 female prisoners, led by the Kielce-Radom survivors, were led towards the front gate of the camp and were met by a long line of white buses with Swedish and Red Cross flags waving. Thanks to the intervention of Count Bernadotte of Sweden, the ordeal was over! Mildred recounts, “standing there on that momentous, glorious day... I heard my mothers soothing voice, ‘you are young, you will see the end of the war’”.

None of Mildred Feferman-Wassoff’s family survived the Holocaust. She wrote this incredible memoir immediately after her release from the camps and while in various hospitals. A year after her release, she immigrated to the United States. Some twenty years later, her two daughters and grandchild coaxed her into translating the memoirs from Polish into English.

This memoir is important for several reasons. First, Mrs. Feferman-Wassoff is able to convey the humaneness, the spirit and will of the survivors in a way that touches my heart deeply. Secondly, I think these memoirs are incredible for her detailing the lives and actions of over 225 people from Kielce. This is a treasure trove for genealogists looking for information concerning loved ones who perished in the Holocaust. A gift to us from a brave, courageous woman.

Staszow Chronicle – Dates and Events

Compiled by Elhanan Erlich

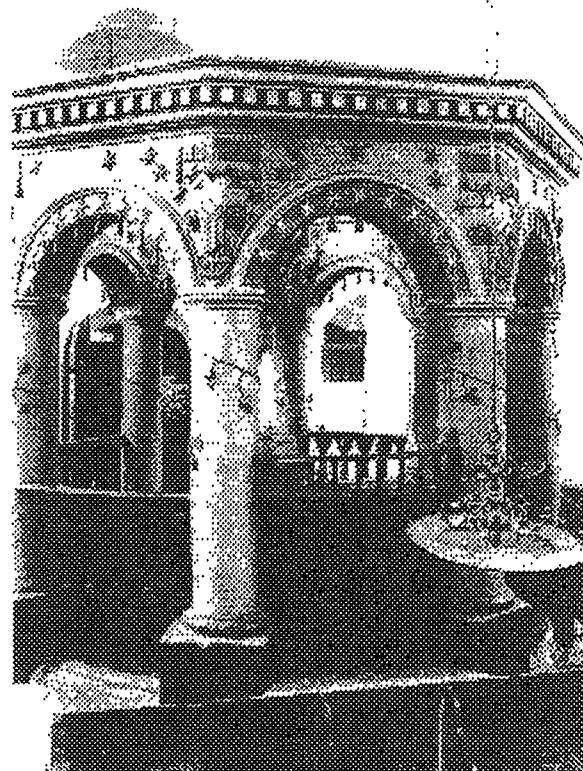

Translated from Hebrew by Chana Tuchman; Edited by Jean-Pierre Stroweis

This chronology was published in the Staszow Yizkor Book Sefer Staszow (Tel Aviv, 1962) in Hebrew (pages 43-46) and in Yiddish (pages 63-67).

- 1526 The owner of Staszów and Rytwin, Hyeronimus Lasky, received permission from King Sigmund I to hold a market day in the town of Staszów every Thursday.
- 1610 The Jewry of Staszów was expelled from the town due to a blood libel.
- 1690 After about 80 years, the Jews were allowed to return to Staszów.
- 1718 The Jewish community of Staszów was permitted to establish a synagogue and a cemetery.
- 1738 Prince Czartoryski issued a decree, by which a building for the town council was to be erected in the center of the market place, which would also house shops.
- 1772 The original licenses of the synagogue and the cemetery had been destroyed by a fire in the town. These documents were renewed.
- 1808 The Jews were ordered to add Polish family names to their names.
- 1809 Amongst other restrictions imposed by the Duchy of Warsaw, Jews were forbidden to live in the vicinity of the gentile population, and were assigned to live in a special area.

From 1809 to 1844, Staszów was the seat of the regional district.

- 1811 Amendments concerning trade fairs were introduced: market days remained on Thursdays, and fairs were to be held on the following dates: January 2, February 29, April 1, May 27, June 24, July 26, August 24, September 2, October 21, November 30, December 20.
- 1825 The new cemetery was established.
- 1826 The first bridge [on the Czarna River] was built opposite the flourmill.
- 1843 The road leading from Staszów to Apt [Opatów] was paved.
- 1846 Ten Jews settled with the assistance of Prince Potocki in an agricultural estate in Adamówka, near Staszów. Their names are as follows: Izrael Dizenhaus, Pinkus [Pinchas] Weinreb, Zetma(?) Straus, Leizor Szternberg, Cala [Betzalel] Wincenter, Izrael Goldsztein, Yecheszel Orkan, Szmuel Goldberg, Leizor Erlich, Josef Frenkel.
In the same year, Leibusz Wolman dug a channel which served as the new water way for the river Czarna up to the Dluga street. Wolman was paid 2040 zlotys and 18 groschen for this work.
- 1850 The number of trade fairs was reduced to six per year.
- 1854 A big fire erupted in Staszów. It destroyed seventeen houses and many auxiliary buildings.
- 1874 Another big fire erupted. It destroyed all the buildings from the river up to Kostielna Street, including the synagogue.
- 1886 The public park was established.

- 1905 The "Bund" was founded. In the same year, a governing body and a civil police force made up of Jewish and Polish citizens were established and a people's law court was founded.
- 1910 The market day was finally set on Thursdays and the fair day set on Mondays weekly.
- 1914 On Yom Kippur, one Jewish citizen was hanged and ten were shot to death, by order of a Russian general, named Novikow.

In the same year, Rabbi Yehuda Leib Graubart, the Rabbi of Staszów, and Rabbi David Goldfeder were exiled to Russia, serving as hostages responsible for the proper behavior of the Jews.

- 1917 The Zionist Federation and the Mizrahi were founded. In the same year, a memorial service was held on Kav BeTamuz (20 Tamuz), in honor of Dr. Herzl, may his memory be blessed, the first of its kind in Staszów.
- 1918 The Scouts organization was founded by Yitzhak Tenenbaum, from Bendzin [Będzin].
- 1919 The establishment of the new post-war Poland brought about the incitement of the local rural Polish population to attack the Jews and unleash upon them a pogrom. However, the leaders of the Jewish community, amongst them Wolf Tuchman, Efraim Singer, Izrael Karpfen, Mathis Frydman and Josef Segal, succeeded to prevent this evil by their strict intervention.
- 1923 The young leader of the local "Bund" died of tuberculosis and his friends held a secular burying ceremony for him. The shtetl was in total uproar following this event.
- 1924 Lightning hit the 16 year old son of Herszel Goldflus. All efforts to save his live, such as artificial resuscitation, covering him in earth up to his neck, did not succeed.
- 1925 The repair of the old cemetery wall was completed. The Polish citizens living in the vicinity felt comfortable whilst the wall was broken and opposed forcefully to the repair work, which was only completed due to the heroic action of the members of the Jewish community and mainly by Rabbi Efraim Singer, who not once endangered his life standing up against the Poles.
- In the same year, during Rosh Hashana, a fire broke out in the town. The house of Reb Mosze Ray, by the river, burned down in his absence. After the Holiday, Reb Mosze was on his way home, unaware of the disaster that had befallen him; Reb Naftali Shor joined him on his way in order to prepare him so as to prevent even a greater disaster on finding out suddenly what had happened to him.
- 1929 From that year onwards, Polish anti-Semitism became very severe under the guidance of the Endeks [Polish acronym for the "Nationalist Democrats", a virulently anti-Semitic faction, led by Roman Dumovski Ed. Note] and their local representatives: Szczurek, Samburski (leader) and others, who broke windows and when the Jewish shopkeepers posted guards, struggles broke out between them and the Jewish youngsters.

- 1929/1930 The leader of Poland's Jewry, Isaac Grünbaum, visited Staszów in the course of an election campaign. This visit turned into a great, happy event in the shtetl and left its impression for a long time.
- 1930 The movements of the Zionist youth and the pioneers of the General Zionists (HaNoar HaZioni and HeHalutz HaKlal Zioni) were founded in Staszów, mainly by Zwi Leibowicz.
- 1932 Dr. Isaac Szifer and Chaim Zerubavel visited the town for a series of lectures on literature and other subjects.
Another fire broke out in the same year. It started at the barn next to the house of Mordechai Wagner and spread very fast down all the buildings in the area called the "Platzes", up to Zlota Street. In this fire, a Polish shepherd, who slept in the barn, found his death.
- 1933 The butcher Chane Katz was killed by his bull.
- 1934 In February, the Jewish community celebrated the aliyah of the Rawed family. A party took place in Beit Mizrachi and afterwards, the many participants accompanied the first family to make aliyah, with dances, songs and great excitement.
In the same year, a fire broke out again, in the hostel, situated in the corner of Opatowska Street and the market place. A whole row of houses (from the corner to Alter Buchwald 's house) burnt down.
- 1935 In February, the great strike of the shoemakers broke out, against the shoe traders. Due to untiring efforts on the part of the traders organization, mainly Alter Band, Mendel Szniper, Izik Wolman, Herszel Nissencwajg, Menachem Lifshitz, and the secretary of the organization, Natan Reich, they succeeded in stopping the strike before much damage was caused.
- 1936 After a great dispute, Rabbi Alter Eliezer Horwicz, former Rabbi of Ryglice, and descendant of Rabbi Naftali Ropszyc, may his holy memory be blessed, was chosen as Rabbi of the town.
- 1938 The local Zionist organization opened an exhibition on behalf of the K.K.L. (Keren Kayemet LeIsrael = Jewish National Fund).
- Sept 5, 1939 On the 5th day of World War II, the town was bombarded by the Germans and the first casualties were sustained from the family of Meir Cohen and others.
- Sept 6, 1939 A big fire broke out.
- Sept 8, 1939 In the early morning, the Nazi forces entered Staszów.
- Oct 26, 1939 German Police forces made their seat in Staszów. Several days later, five Jewish citizens were taken hostages to guarantee the "proper behavior" of the Jewish population.
- Nov 25, 1939 The Jewish community was asked to make its "first contribution". A few days earlier, the Germans appointed 'the Council of Elders'.
- Dec 1939 A decree was issued, whereby every Jewish person from the age of ten is obliged to wear a band ("a paske") of white cloth with a blue Star of David (Magen David).
In the same month, the first refugees arrived from the town of Kalisz.
- Jan 26, 1940 The soup kitchen is opened in the Hassidic school (Beit Midrash).
- Jan 29, 1940 150 S.S. forces arrived in Staszów, headed by Obersturmfuehrer Wassmann, to rob and destroy Jewish shops, with the active assistance of the Poles and the Volksdeutsche (German-speaking Poles).
- 1940 On the eve of Shavouot, German forest forces came to Staszów and beat up Efraim Singer, arrested him and took him to Iwaniska. Only after great efforts and bribery, Singer was released from his torturers.
- July 1, 1940 All Jews from the age of 15 and up were compelled to forced labor twice a week.
- July 15, 1940 The German company for road paving arrived.

- Sept 12, 1940 The Germans captured in a chasing action 260 Jews. 20 Jews were released due to health reasons and the rest were deported to a labor camp. Two days before Sukkot (the Feast of the Tabernacles), the German Police and the Volkdeutsche Karl Tirne arrested Leizor Brendzel, put him in the local jail and finally hanged him.
- June 1941 The "Jewish Police" (OrdnungsDienst) was formed.
- Jan 1, 1942 Jews were prohibited to leave the town. He who does not observe this decree will be executed.
- Jan 6, 1942 Action. Fur coats collection.
- Jan 15, 1942 Jewish shops were put under German Volksdeutsche or Polish control.
- Feb 1942 The Gestapo officer Von Moltke arrives in Staszów from Tarnów. He robs Jewish property and beats up its owner with cruelty.
- Mar 17, 1942 Another visit from Von Moltke. He kills two Jews from Mielec and one named Lichtensztein, who is a refugee.
- April 1942 Polish informers tell the Germans that the Jews are smuggling food. The first victim of the slander is Herszel Beizam's daughter, a girl of 19.
- June 1942 The council of Elders (Judenrat) is requested to supply 100 "volunteers" for the camp of Skarżysko-Kamienna.
- June 15, 1942 A ghetto was declared in the two parts of the town.
- July 1, 1942 The ghetto was closed.
- August 1942 Workshops manufacturing clothes for the Germans were established.
- Sept 11, 1942 The German police broke into the house of Yechiel Milgrom, robbed all the goods that were there, bound him during the whole day to a taxi and jailed him.
- Sept 27, 1942 More Jews were captured to Skarżysko-Kamienna.
- Oct 1, 1942 Jandrek Drezler kills Jakob Aris Kozochowicz.
- Oct 2, 1942 Panther, a German police officer from Frankfurt am Main, kills the wife of Markel Weiswol.
- Oct 4, 1942 Deportation from Szydlów [near Staszów]. In these days, deportations also took place in Ostrowiec, Apt [Opatów], and Chmielnik.
- Oct 10, 1942 300 "volunteers" sent to Skarżysko.
- Oct 18, 1942 Deportees from Osiek and Plontch [Połaniec] were brought in.
- Nov 6, 1942 Second action in Chmielnik.
- Nov 8, 1942 [28 Machhesvan Tashag 5703] Liquidation of the ghetto. It is said that on the same day, Reb Shimele Melamed cried: "No law, no judge".
- Dec 1, 1942 The Germans declare the establishment of five Jewish towns, one of them being Tsotzmir [Sandomierz].
- Dec 15, 1942 Liquidation of the workshops and their transfer to Poniatów.
- Jan 10, 1943 Liquidation of the Judenstadt of Tsotzmir [the Jewish town of Sandomierz].
- May 1943 Dawid Sznifer, head of partisans in the forest of Wyszków. At the same time, 100 persons from the "Ammer" camp were sent to "Kleczianow", a stone quarry near Tsotzmir [Sandomierz].
- June 3, 1943 Liquidation of "Ammer" and transfer of inhabitants to Tsotzmir [Sandomierz] and Radom.
- Nov 5, 1943 Liquidation of Poniatów, amongst them hundreds of Jews from Staszów.
- Aug 3, 1944 Freeing of survivors in the forest and hiding places in Staszów.
- May 9, 1945 Freeing of Staszower Jewry from Theresienstadt [Terezin] in Bohemia.

The Stones of Staszów

by Jack Goldfarb

I have made annual pilgrimages to Staszów (pop 16,000) in south central Poland for many years. My ancestors lived in the town from at least 1790 until the fateful day of November 8, 1942. On that "Black Sunday", most of the 5,000 members of the Jewish community – including 35 of my uncles, aunts and cousins – were deported to their ultimate deaths in the Belzec and Treblinka camps.

The Staszów Jews were forcibly assembled in the Market Square at 8 am that morning, and about 20 were murdered on the spot and subsequently buried in a mass grave in the cemetery. Just last November, after 40 years of searching, we have located this mass grave by an accidental discovery.

In their sadistic efforts to obliterate all traces of Jewish life (and death), the Gestapo on that grim day ordered the approximately 1,000 tombstones in the 120 year-old cemetery to be uprooted. Most were laid down in the town square and in side streets, to be used as paving for the muddy walkways in the winter of '42-'43.

When World War II ended, the Mayor of Staszów ordered the stones to be dug up and stored in a warehouse. With no Jewish residents any longer in the town, nor any authorities the Mayor might have consulted about these stones, he was said to have sold the gravestones – mostly carved from sturdy sandstone – to construction companies. The tombstones, as such, disappeared forever.

On November 8, 1992, exactly 50 years to the day after Black Sunday, we dedicated a Holocaust Memorial Monument on the site of the Jewish Cemetery, which Polish friends and I had helped restore after half a century of its desecration and abandonment. A number of Christian families, hearing of the restoration project, came forward and presented us with 10 gravestones they had preserved in their gardens and backyards. We re-erected these stones alongside the Memorial Monument as a symbolic minyan, a silent quorum of witnesses to a devastated burial ground.

After that event, there seemed to be no further traces of those 1,000 gravestones that had stood in the Staszów cemetery. Three years ago, just as I was embarking on my annual journey to Staszów, a letter from an Israeli arrived. He told me that he had visited Staszów and seen a stone with Hebrew inscription in the courtyard of a house on Koscielna Street.

Following his tip, I went to an imposing, meticulously maintained residence owned by a high school teacher. "Yes", Mr. Zielinski told me, he had a stone in his courtyard. He had to have it lifted up in order to install a gas line on his property. He had left it propped against a wall. It was too heavy to move further. In the gloomy November dusk, I slowly read the Hebrew inscription, which was clearly visible. It was the gravestone of my grandfather! [See Kielce-Radom SIG Journal III 2 (Spring 1999), page 8.]

Jack Goldfarb at his grandfather's gravestone in the Staszów cemetery. This stone, along with 120 other "lost" stones, was recovered from the house used as Gestapo Headquarters.

The next morning, under a grey overcast sky, as I said Kaddish and we laid my grandfather's stone back on the earth, incredibly, the clouds parted and a shaft of sunlight illuminated Staszów. After further investigation, I discovered that the Zielinski property had been the Gestapo Headquarters during the Nazi Occupation. Later, it had housed the offices of the Communist Security Police (UB), and had also once been a military barracks. Mr. Zielinski now revealed that there were at least 40 more Jewish gravestones forming the courtyard and the floor of his garage.

I was determined to recover every single one of those stones. I offered to repave his courtyard with my own chosen workmen, in exchange for the stones. At first, he agreed, but later he then changed his mind. I negotiated with him for three years, as he escalated his price from year to year because of "inflation" and his insistence on using his own "quality" workmen. I never knew whether my questioning the "morality" of the daily treading on these sacred stones had any real effect on this small town school teacher.

At the start of this project to recover the stones, I went to the German Embassy in Warsaw explaining that it was apparent how these stones got to the Gestapo Headquarters in the first place, and it would be a nice gesture for the German Government to help defray some of the $5,000 cost of their recovery. "Mr. Goldfarb," the young and sympathetic German Counselor assured me, "We will cover the entire cost of this project."

But the difficult negotiations with Mr. Zielinski continued to remain at an impasse, as his price rose at one point to $10,000. Meanwhile, the German offer of help, limited to $5,000, was nearing its expiration deadline of January 1, 2003.

At this juncture, Rabbi Michael Schudrich, the Chief Rabbi of Poland, who had made many invaluable efforts to resolve the situation, came to the rescue. He asked Eliza Chodorowska of Warsaw to help. Eliza, a conscientious and diplomatic young woman, had top-level governmental experience dealing with difficult matters regarding Jewish issues. Miss Chodorowska convinced a trio of experienced mediators to travel to Staszów. The three were: Father Michal Czajkowski, an ecumenical leader in promoting Christian-Jewish relations; Joanna Branska, president of the Polish-Israel Friendship Society; and Mr. Laszynski, a prominent journalist for Rzeszpolita, a widely-read national newspaper.

The "haggling" reached an end when Mr. Zielinski accepted $7,500.

It took a crew of workmen from nearby Tarnów just three days to extricate what turned out to be 120 gravestones from the Koscielna Street property. In addition, 400 smaller fragments of stones were recovered, which are being incorporated into two freestanding concrete Memorial walls.

The gravestones have risen again in long orderly rows under the cemetery's tall acacia trees. Returning from their 60-year humiliating exile, the stones of Staszów silently celebrate a belated triumph.

Jack Goldfarb's previous articles in the Kielce-Radom SIG Journal about Staszów are "A Kaddish Deferred" in II:3 (Summer 1998), pages 13-18; and "A 'Memorial Day' in Staszów" in III:4 (Autumn 1999), pages 30-31. Also see the recent article about his efforts to restore the Staszów Jewish cemetery in the New York newspaper The Jewish Week of 5/16/2003: "Saving Cemeteries Here And Abroad", available online at <<http://www.thejewishweek.com/news/newscontent.php3?artid=7925>>.

Jack Goldfarb has been writing about travel for over 30 years. His articles have appeared in The New York Times, The Washington Post, Los Angeles Times and many other publications. He visits Eastern Europe frequently on Holocaust Remembrance efforts. His email address is <jacsim@juno.com>.

Zwolen

Zwolen was a large town in Kozienice powiat, in northeastern Radom gubernia. The town of Zwolen's Jewish population in 1897 was 3,242 (over half the town's total population), and in 1931 it was 3,787.

This issue contains the complete set of all 973 Jewish marriages recorded in Zwolen between 1826 and 1877, extracted from the Polish and Russian by David Price.

Zwolen is a "new" town for us – one for which we have never published any extracts before – and with the publication of these Zwolen extracts, the Kielce-Radom SIG has now published extracts for at least one town in every one of the fourteen districts in these two gubernias.

The Zwolen marriages include marriage partners from many other area towns, notably Ciepielów, Gniewoszów, Granica, Kazanów, Kozienice, Lipsko, Radom and Szydłowiec, and towns in bordering Lublin gubernia such as Kazimierz Dolny.

Radoszyce

Radoszyce births for 1826 to 1850 appear in this issue, extracted from the Polish by Dolores Ring. Dolores' extracts of the later Radoszyce births records, 1851-1884, appeared in Kielce-Radom SIG Journal V:1 (Winter 2001), pages 38-58. Her extracts of all of the microfilmed Jewish marriage records of Radoszyce, 1810-1884, appeared in K-R SIG Journal, III:4 (Autumn 1999), pages 32-51.

Radoszyce ("Radoshitz") is located 25 miles northwest of Kielce, and before WWI was in Końskie powiat (district) of Radom gubernia. In 1897, 1,728 Jews lived there, comprising 49% of the town's population.

Additional information on maiden surnames of mothers has been derived by the author from an analysis of data from Radoszyce, as well as records from surrounding towns, tracking families over an extended period of time. All conjectural information is noted in square brackets [], to differentiate from the data that appears in the original records. The conjectures do not appear in the record itself.

Ogrodzieniec

When the Jewish community of a certain town or village is rather small, its vital records are reported to some nearby town with a larger Jewish population. Ogrodzieniec is such an example. It is located at 50°27'N 19°31'E, six miles west of Pilica.

There are Roman Catholic civil vital records of Ogrodzieniec available on microfilm for 1808-1855. As throughout the Kingdom of Poland, Jewish records are included in these civil records up through 1825.

From the scarcity of Jewish records for Ogrodzieniec, it is clear that Ogrodzieniec had a tiny Jewish community (and it wouldn't be a big stretch to say it wouldn't exist if it wasn't for the Pachter family). Since the Pachter name occurs in the later Pilica Jewish records, and a number of Pilica records indicate a town of origin of Ogrodzieniec, it is believed that beginning with 1826, all Jewish vital records for Ogrodzieniec were filed with the Pilica records.

Caution

These extracts are intended to assist the researcher in selecting records that may be of use for further study. There may be errors in interpretation in these extracts, due to the uneven quality of legibility of the handwriting, the microfilming, and the condition of the microfilm itself, in addition to errors in the original record books. As always, it is prudent for the researcher, when using secondary source data such as these extracts, to examine the primary source data for final verification. It is always best for the genealogist to view the actual records pertaining to his/her family to verify the interpretation, and glean additional facts.
